PRICE TWO CENTS

DENEEN DEFEATS YATES BY 14,000

NARROW MAJORITY IN ILLINOIS
PRIMARIES

ADLAI STEVENSON ALSO WINS

Hopkins Also Wins, and Lorimer and Foss Are Renominated for Congress—Yates Gives Up Hard

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 10.—Charles S. Deneen's victory over Richard Yates for the republican nomination for governor was made certain Saturday. Returns, while not official, came in from all counties, and showed that the governor has been re-nominated by about 14,000 votes.

That is a great fall from the 70,000 majority that his managers claimed the night before election. Still, it is not any farther from the actual results than were that Yates prognostications, which gave their candidate a victory of 40,000 votes.

Deneen carried both Chicago and the down-state counties, taking the latter as a whole. His majority in Chicago proper, as it is now figured, was 4,391. Evanston and country towns in Cook county added to that vote until the total for the county was 7,591.

His majority down state, as the present figures show, was 5,416. These figures are, of course, subject to correction, and there will doubtless be many changes, but not enough to change the result.

Col. John D. Oglesby seems to have been nominated for lieutenant governor, and James A. Rose for secretary of state.

Stevenson Beats Lewis.

On the democratic ballot former Vice-president Adlai E. Stevenson won the nomination for the governorship. He did it by his down state strength, and the fact that he was the only man remaining with what is left of the democratic party who was widely known. Col. James Hamilton Lewis had the distinction of being the runner-up for the Bloomington sage, with a scattered field behind.

Col. Lewis carried his own city by such majority that the others did not look to be in his class. His vote was 22,374, and John P. McGoorty was next with 10,004.

It was a hard fight for Richard Yates to lose Saturday, and he lost it rather hard. He and his followers would not give up until late Sunday, and some of them are even now declining to accept the inevitable. They had burned their bridges behind them to make the fight, so they were on the other side of the river of defeat when the returns came in, and they had no political homes.

Hopkins Wins Out.

While Yates went down, the majority of his followers saved themselves, so far as renominations were concerned. Congressman Lorimer won his district. Speaker Spurliff also won, and so did Congressman Foss, but for congress and not for the United States senate. He was in the latter race to help Deneen, and possibly he did that after Senator Hopkins showed signs of weakening on his bargain with the governor.

John W. Hill, chairman of the now famous "investigating" committee of the house of representatives, which stirred up the campaign issue upon which Richard Yates made his fight, has been repudiated by his own senatorial district.

Mr. Hill aspired to be promoted to the state senate. He thought that his services as an "investigator" warranted recognition by his district, the Sixth, where Senator William M. Brown was a candidate for renomination at the hands of the republicans, but he was defeated by 606 votes.

Foss May Yet Win.

The republican party in Illinois has been plunged into the most bitter senatorial struggle it has ever known. The result of the state-wide direct primary is a "dogfall" for the three leading candidates—Senator Albert G. Hopkins, Congressman Geo. Edmund Foss and former Senator William E. Mason. The figures from over the state indicate that the lead of Senator Hopkins over his adversaries, taking the state as a whole, is comparatively insignificant. The latest figures show a neck-and-neck race among the three and no possibility of any one having a clear majority of the advisory vote.

Under the circumstances everyone realizes that the senatorial fight has been passed on to the legislature, where a deadlock seems certain.

FOUR DEAD IN NEW YORK TENEMENT FIRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Four children of Frank Sausto, a janitor, were killed and seven others were painfully hurt in the fire this morning in a four story tenement at East 112th street. Evidence is plentiful that black hand gangs are responsible for the fatal fire, but their object is a mystery, as all the tenements are of the poorest class.

PASTOR SAYS THE "WOMAN DID IT"

HUSBAND FOUND HIM IN HIS WIFE'S ROOM

BEAT HIM WITH A CLUB

Prominent Washington, D. C., Pastor Slept in Cornfield After a Hot Escapade

HURLOCK, Md., Aug. 10.—"The woman tempted me, but I'm innocent. She came into my room in the night and pleaded that I love her. I was just leaving my bed to eject her when her husband entered the room."

This is the defense of Rev. Stephen B. Shipman, pastor of the Washington M. E. church, who was beaten into insensibility by Thomas Carew, when he found the preacher and his wife together in a room. After the beating, the minister says, being warned Carew was likely to return and kill him, he spent the night in a cornfield where the mosquitoes sang in swarms.

Following is the story the pastor will tell when Carew sues for divorce and he sues Carew for damages for assault:

"I went home with Nathan Todd, Mrs. Carew's father, at about 9 o'clock in the evening. When I retired I was given the room usually occupied by Carew. After I had fallen asleep, I was aroused by a hand on my face and was surprised to find Carew's wife sitting on the side of the bed. I immediately protested, insisting on her leaving the room. She said: 'Oh, won't you love me, won't you pray for me?' I avoided making a scene and started to leave the bed. She arose and in leaving the room ran into the arms of her husband, and they had a scuffle. In the meantime I was rapidly putting my clothes on. I said, 'I will leave as soon as I can get my clothes on.' He said, 'No, you will go now without any clothes,' and commenced tearing off the clothes I had on. Grabbing my shoes and a small grip I started for the door, when he attacked me, grabbed me by the throat and choked me nearly to death. Finally I fled by the front door. He followed with a large club, beating me unmercifully. His wife and mother followed screaming to him not to kill me. For a quarter of a mile he kept this up until we reached the home of a neighboring pastor. I looked as if I had been butchered; my clothing was torn to shreds. Carew's brother came and told me Carew was likely to return and kill me. He took me across a ditch to a cornfield where we remained, tormented by mosquitoes until morning."

Tom Carew's version is that the preacher was seen by him from outside the house, first to go to Mrs. Carew's room, after which she came to the minister's room and remained nineteen minutes.

The sentiment of the members of the church strongly favors the pastor.

WRIGHT WANTED TO WALLOP FRENCHMAN

LEMAN, France, Aug. 10.—W. G. Wright and the French air captain almost came to blows at the race track here this afternoon over the Frenchman's insistence in taking a picture of Wright's airship. When the captain disregarded Wright's request not to take a picture of the big machine, the American threatened to wipe up the ground with the captain if he didn't turn over the camera, plates and all.

Wright's intentions were so unmistakable that the captain complied. After destroying the plates, Wright returned the camera to the completely cowed Frenchman. The affair so upset Wright's nerves that he is unlikely to make another trial today.

GIBBONS RELAPSES
AFTER SEEING POPE

ROME, Aug. 10.—Cardinal Gibbons suffered a relapse today as the result of over-exertion in attending the audience of the pope Saturday and yesterday at the services in the Vatican celebrating the pope's fifth papal anniversary and today's congregation. While the relapse is not serious, the physicians ordered the cardinal to cancel all engagements and to remove to the country for a complete rest. He is undecided where to go to recuperate.

NAST'S FAMOUS CARTOON WHICH GAVE PRESENT ANIMAL EMBLEMS TO OUR TWO GREAT PARTIES

"An Ass, Having Put on the Lion's Skin, Roamed About in the Forest and Amused Himself by Frightening all the Other Foolish Animals He Met in His Wanderings."—Shakespeare or Bacon.

(Published November 7, 1874, Harper's Weekly. Copyright by Harper Brothers.)

The republican and democratic parties owe the origin of their party emblems, the elephant and mule, to Thomas Nast. It was back in 1874, when this cartoon first appeared in Harper's Weekly, during the strenuous campaign in which President Grant was strongly backed for a third term, that Nast first brought these two animals out of the jungle and made them famous. As a matter of fact, the donkey antedates the republican elephant by more than four years, for it was back in Harper's Weekly for January 15, 1870, that the long-eared animal dropped off the tip of Nast's pen, but in this first appearance it got no such dignified name as donkey. It was just plain jackass. It is a curious development that has made the jackass of 1870, which was then the derision of the opposition, today the accepted emblem of the party. The rancor of it has been lost in the interim and the party now is vain of its symbolic possession. The long-despised barnyard prima donna had at last come into its domains and today, carrying weight for age, it cuts out a fine pace for the elephant in the national handicap.

Thomas Nast, the "father of the American cartoon," was not only a cartoonist but an artist and a thorough politician of marked partisanship. When he died, four years ago, at Guayaquil, Ecuador, he was in the United States consular service. Fortune decreed that this great artist should live in stirring times. In a great measure his pictures were destined to become a sort of national gallery of pictorial history. As time sped on many of his pen sketches came each to represent some distinct step in a struggling nation's progress. Nast was always a politician. At first a little one; in the end great. Nast was radical in his opinions and pictured these in so clear a manner that he converted much of the country to his belief and had a marked influence on American politics in his day. The elephant was meant to symbolize political greatness; the donkey democratic wisdom and loud braying, for Nast was first of all a republican. His cartoons were usually based on bitterest satire, ridiculing the opposition and holding up the favored side in a pleasing way.

SULTAN MAY FLEE FROM HIS THRONE

LOADING GOLD INTO A MYSTERIOUS ARMED YACHT

DEMANDS ARE INSATIABLE

Young Turks Are Driving Monarch to Abandon Throne in Quest of His Safety

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 10.—A rumor that the sultan has grown tired of the insatiable demands of the young Turks, and intends to flee from the country, is generally credited in diplomatic governmental circles here.

The discovery of a mysterious armed yacht off Scutari, across the Bosphorus from Constantinople, gives color to the report. The crew has been loading packages aboard the yacht for several days. These are said to contain the sultan's gold and other valuables.

It is believed the sultan is only waiting a favorable opportunity to board the yacht himself, and sail for some foreign capital. He is convinced that he will never be able to meet all the demands of the young Turks and that his failure will eventually lead to his overthrow and plunge the country into war.

AMERICAN AIRSHIP
AHEAD OF EUROPEAN

PARIS, Aug. 10.—French aeronaut experts are almost without exception, today admitting that Wilbur G. Wright is far ahead of all European aeronautical experimenters. French skepticism of Wright's claim before his flight are entirely dissipated and the consensus of opinion is that he is nearer to practical aerial navigation than any other man in the world. The warmth of the French critics greatly pleases Wright and he is determined to give them exhibitions that will further sound them.

READY FOR OIL CASE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The preliminary draft of the Standard Oil rehearing petition has been completed and was today forwarded to Bonaparte by District Attorney Sims. The petition will be filed August 27. Sims declined to discuss the contents.

TIRE FROM OFFICE

Several Prominent Members of the Lodge Like to Attend Session; Executive Meeting Tuesday

The annual state convention of the Redmen which will be held here from Wednesday to Saturday, promises to be an exceptionally busy session. Several important matters will be taken before the meeting including the election of state officers.

Great Sachem E. C. Raymond has stated that he is not a candidate for re-election, although his friends ask him to run again, as his work in the office have been considered satisfactory. There promises to be a strong fight for the position however, and there also promises to be a strong for delegate to the grand council of the United States, to be held at Bridgeport, Conn., in September.

Among the candidates who are in the field for delegate are G. Holmes Daubner of Waukesha, Max Asch of Milwaukee and Dr. A. S. Andrews of Superior.

A meeting of the executive committee will be held tomorrow before the opening of the session on Wednesday morning.

About 150 delegates are expected at the session.

PASSENGER SHIP NEAR A HOLOCUST

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Only the timely arrival of the British steamer Imogen prevented a terrible loss of life among the passengers of the Dutch ship Amstelland, which caught fire off the coast of South America, August 6th, according to a message received at Lloyd's today. The fire aboard the Amstelland created a fearful panic among the passengers and they rushed to the rails and leaped overboard in droves.

Scores would have drowned in the mad scramble in the ocean, had the Imogen not put out to the rescue. The Imogen lowered all her life boats and picked up most of those struggling with the waves though several thousand drowned.

The fire on the Amstelland was extinguished without any serious damage to the ship. The number drowned was not stated in the message.

KAISER AND KING MEET TOMORROW

RULERS WITH VAST DIFFER-ENCE TO DISCUSS

RESENTS ENGLISH ALLIANCE

Kaiser Jealous of Franco-Russian Pact—Aggression of Germany Displeases Edward

KRONENBERG, Germany, Aug. 10.—Everything is in readiness for the meeting of the Kaiser and King Edward here tomorrow. The Kaiser arrived at noon today and Edward will stop off on the way to Marienbad, where he goes to take the baths. Great political significance, it is expected, will attach to this meeting. While the ties of blood are strong between the two, the greatest political difference exists.

The Kaiser has openly resented Edward's attempts at a powerful defensive alliance with Russia and France, the success of which so piqued him that he threw diplomacy to the winds in public utterances.

The aggressive tactics of the Kaiser, on the other hand, have been the one chief disturbing element in England's affairs, and are responsible for the enormous outlays England is making in the navy.

The meeting, therefore, is bound to be highly interesting. The monarchs will spend the day at Friedrichshof castle, guests of the Kaiser's youngest sister, the Princess Frederic Charles of Hesse.

TRAIN IS ATTACKED;
THREE ARE KILLED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 10.—Three men were instantly killed and eleven injured, two of whom will probably die when striking miners fired into a passenger train on the Birmingham mineral railroad at Blocton this morning. The train was a special bearing nonunion men to the Blocton mines under guard of soldiers and deputies. On the outskirts of the town, in a cut, the engineer saw a log across the track and at once a fusillade was fired into the train.

Gov. Comer held a hurried conference with Lieut. Col. Hubbard, commanding the militia and another company was hurried to Blocton.

PAPERS ASK FOR GOV'T INTERVENTION

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 10.—Intervention by the dominion government was today demanded by all newspapers to end the strike of the Canadian Pacific mechanics, which so far has shown no signs of settlement. Encouraged by the refusal of the other railway brotherhoods to aid their striking brothers, the company today began vigorous efforts to break up the tie-up. They have provided accommodations in all shops here for 1,000 strikebreakers and have pursued the same policy at all stations to the coast. There has been no violence at any point along the line.

CUMMINS TO CONFER ON WAY TO GO IN

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 10.—Governor Cummins will hold a conference today with the leaders of the progressive faction to determine whether to call a special session of the legislature to elect a successor to Allison for the unexpired term, or to resign and allow Lieutenant Governor Garret to appoint a successor. C., Aug. 10.—According to a dispatch received by the state department today from Consul Doty at Tabriz, the American flag flying over the consulate was shot away yesterday by loyalist forces and a man was wounded at the front door of the consulate. A stream of visitors to Fairview to pay respects began early this morning and the candidate promises to have a strenuous day.

Bryan was up early greeting callers, among the first of whom was Congressman Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the notification committee. The pair discussed the notification plans at length. Prior to this, Bryan had a conference with Mack at Chicago over the long distance telephone, relative to the conference of democratic leaders at Chicago today. He told Mack he believed the finance committee should perfect all arrangements for collecting campaign funds before it left for Lincoln tonight or tomorrow. Mack told the candidate that the meeting will be harmonious, and the outlook is very promising.

Bryan received a delegation of traveling men this morning, who assured the candidate that sentiment for him growing everywhere in the middle west. They said that twenty-five percent of the people whom they came in contact with who had voted for Roosevelt four years ago would this year vote for the democracy.

OUT FOR SEASONCHANGES TENDING TO MAKE GAME MORE OPEN

FORWARD PASS IS ALTERED

Revisions Do Not Seem to Have Any Change on Play—Field Judge Is Timekeeper

Official football rules for next fall are out and there are several changes in them which probably will have a tendency to make the game more open. Alterations have been made on the forward pass, on the penalty for hurdling and roughness, fouling, time to be taken out and the intermission between halves.

The change in which the football enthusiasts are most interested is the forward pass, although the alterations are not so great as to make much difference. The rules regarding that particular play was altered to the extent that when the forward pass is legally touched only the man of the passer's side who thus first legally touches it shall be entitled to recover the ball until it has been touched by an opponent. Also, if a forward pass is thus legally touched, fumbled and touched by another player of the passer's side before the ball has touched an opponent, the oval shall go to the opponents on the side where it was first legally touched.

Spalding's guide also states in regard to that play that while the ball is in the air for a forward pass players of the defensive side may not use their hands or arms on opponents, except to push them out of the way in order to get the ball themselves. Players of the side making the pass who are eligible to receive the pass may use the hands and arms, as in case of players going down the field under a kick. Neither side may, however, hold to tackle an opponent who has not the ball. In case a forward pass is illegally touched outside of these provisions the penalty shall be that the ball go to the opponents at the spot from which the pass was made.

A field judge has been made timekeeper and with the umpire has jurisdiction over the ruling of a batted ball, which has been altered to read that the penalty for batting the ball forward is made loss of it to the offending side.

In regard to all penalties for fouls it has been determined that they may be declined by the offending side, except penalties under the forward pass. This, however, in case where the disqualification does not save the player from being put out of the game.

Instead of having ten minute intermission between halves, it has been determined to extend the time to fifteen minutes. The teams are to be notified three minutes before the expiration of the time. If one of the eleven does not appear on the field five minutes afterwards, the ball will be put in play as first down by the offending side on the offending side's thirty-yard line.

Another change is that if a ball on a forward pass or a kicked ball, except try at goal, strike the uprights or cross bars, the ball shall be considered as having crossed the goal line. In case of the ball accidentally striking an official, the play shall be gone through again.

LISTER BREAKS
OWN RECORD

The professional instructor at the County club, James Lister, has broken the record of 75 for the course, made by himself, July 9, by a score of 74.

On the "out" play, the Plateau, Ravine, Switchback, Boomerang, Grandad and Home holes, and in the "in" play the Ravine, Switchback, Boomerang and Home holes were each made in one under bogey, making a net gain of 10.

It rains only once in fourteen years—in some parts of Peru.

There was some class to the way Pink Hawley and his warriors laid siege to the Indian camp of Kid Nichols yesterday and in a neatly laid scheme made their get-away with the seventh consecutive victory, placing them one point behind Madison. The final score was 3 to 1.

Roy Eberly played the role of the big chief for the Colts and had Indians on the run at all times during the game. There was only one thing to mar the satisfaction of the fans, the umpiring of List. With the decisions of Saturday's game fresh in their minds, they started out in the first inning and kept up a continuous babbling with his highness. The pleasant smile of List that is always conspicuous was probably the only thing that kept him from being "lynched." His continual smiling when he handed down a bad decision, or when the fans handed him a lamson, was his only redemption. It is seldom that the gentler sex pounce upon the umpire, but during the past three games the ladies have been unable to hold their temper and have given out considerably more than bouquets.

Anyway La Crosse ran away with the game, although it was not any fault of the umpire, or rather umpires, as "Cozy" Dolan was a prime factor in the umpiring and although he did not announce his decisions to the grand stand Mr. List would interpret them for the fans, and as a rule they were of the Dolan character.

Oshkosh was the first to bat. Bauer being used for an introductory, and he fanned the air three times only to be followed by Ankham, who went out on an easy pop-up to Becker. Warren or Rabbit then appeared and hit safe. Then the disaster appeared. Dolan came to bat and after Warren had gone to second on a passed ball Cozy swatted the ball for two bases, scoring Warren. Curtis, who arrived Saturday evening, went out after a sensational stop and throw by Bumpus Jones to Tracey, retiring the side.

With the odds slightly in favor of the Redskins La Crosse went in to even up matters and more than succeeded. Graves was sent in to start the firing. He responded in grand style, getting a pretty safety. Tracey beat out a bunt and then with Graves on second and Tracey on first Joe Safford came to the rescue in a beautiful manner, sending the ball to deep center and scoring both Graves and Tracey, placing himself on the third sack. Du Chien won out on a safety, scoring Safford. Becker sacrificed Du Chien to second and Bues with the assistance of List struck out. Eberly retired the side by flying out to right garden.

Pinkney Tightens Up
That ended the game. Pinkney, the Indian twirler, at once flew down from his high perch and allowed but two scratch hits and at no time did it look as though La Crosse might score. Eberly on the other hand, was a little more generous, giving a few more hits, but they did not negotiate with any runs.

After the first inning it was practically a pitchers' battle between Eberly and Pinkney, with the odds just about even. The game was interesting with the exception of the umpiring.

In the sixth inning Eberly played the star role. Dolan was the first man up and fanned the air, Curtis followed, doing a similar stunt and then came Johnson to make three terrific swipes at the ball, failing to locate it. The three batters who fell during the inning are touted as the strongest in the league. Dolan and Johnson are already under consideration for bigger leagues.

Saturday's Game
It was the same old story. The Colts were too much for their opponents and after waddling around for nine innings the Redskin family handed over the wampum, the game having gone to the Hawleyites by the score of 10 to 6. There were two features, not exactly enjoyable, the continuous wrangling of the players and the umpire, and the large number of errors during the game, not only on the Indians' side, but with the locals. Becker, the fastest short stop in the league, picked three lemons in the way of errors and Tracey, the ideal first baseman in the eyes of the fans, was there strong on two of the misplay variety.

There was at times good ball playing, but about the time the players settled down to business the umpire would hand down a rank decision and start things "go in" again. The Indians started the scoring, taking the second inning as their victim. After Nichols went down Tracey to Eberly, Johnson was pegged with the ball. White then won out on a bunt and Converse hit to Becker, but an error proved disastrous and two Reds came through the line. The massacre was finally stopped, however, by Bauer flying out to Duchien. La Crosse went in the second inning to tie up the score after two men were out. Bues got to first on an error by Groh and Eberly brought him in with a double. Killian was an easy out and retired the side.

The Indian massacre was not over. Jones was not himself and with the poor team work two more scores were registered. Warren went to first on an error by Tracey. Dolan doubled, scoring Warren and hits by Johnson and Nichols sent Dolan across the plate. In the third inning La Crosse evened things up. After Graves flied out to Groh, Tracey reached the initial sack on an error by Cozy Dolan. Safford and Duchien, who followed him, were given passes, filling the bases. Then Becker came to the rescue with a terrific drive to the left field and brought in all three of his teammates and settled down himself on the second sack. The score was tied but Bues flew out to Anklam, retiring the side.

In the fourth inning Manager Hawley sent Baillies in to replace Jones, who was wild and allowed more than a necessary amount of hits. Baillies was "there" and held the Indians for the remainder of the game down to three hits, but errors were costly and two runs were gained. But La Crosse by this time had gained a good lead and it did not prove disastrous.

In the fourth inning Eberly started out with a hit, got to second on Killian's bunt and came home on a scratch hit by Baillies. This jolted up the fans and helped matters considerably, until the sixth inning, when La Crosse again went wild and a succession of hits by Baillies and Tracey and a 3-bagger by Duchien netted three more runs. In the next inning Baillies secured a hit after Killian went out to Groh. Graves swatted the ball for another safety but was put out at second on Tracey's hit. Safford came to the rescue, however, with a double, sending both Baillies and Tracey across the plate. In the eighth inning a base on balls to Becker, a sacrifice by Bues and a hit by Killian netted the tenth score.

THE GROCERS' PICNIC.

If the grocers' picnic keeps on growing in importance, the date of its annual occurrence will soon be worthy of being made a legal holiday. Last year it had an attendance of 1,000, and this year it promises to at least equal that record.There's a reason. It is this: The grocers have made this annual picnic the most enjoyable outing of the year. It was the conception of the association that it should become a holiday for themselves and their patrons, a day in which the ordinary business ties should give way to a close social relationship. The head of every house in La Crosse is invited, but the grocers go further than that. They know that it is not always possible for the men to go, and so they expressly urge the women and children to go anyway, assuring them that the officers and members of the association devote their time and efforts to seeing them entertained and protected. This gives a feeling of security to lady excursionists, and they come every year in increasing numbers to enjoy the outing with their children.

The arrangements for the entertainment and enjoyment of the pic-nickers are always complete and elaborate, and the thousand who attend always tell others that it is the best time of the year in La Crosse, so that each year new faces join the crowds, lured by the praises of those who have enjoyed the hospitality of the grocers in the past.

President Murray and Secretary Taggart are highly gratified with the outlook this year. Mr. Murray says it looks like another record breaker, and he smiles with the delight a big,
good natured fellow usually experiences in the pleasure of others. Mr.
Taggart is sanguine, as the optimist always is. "We are going to have a great time and a great crowd," he says, "and I want in advance to credit the success we are going to meet to the loyal and intelligent work of the committees. They have shown splendid efficiency."

Well, the picnic is Wednesday.
Kreutz's band will be there, and La Crosse should make the picnic go up to 1,200 this year.

PRESTO! CHANGE!

A newspaper that builds its popularity upon true public service and later becomes the agent of private selfishness to the extent of doing injury to the public, cannot long retain the confidence of the people who "swore by it." However, it frequently occurs that the reversal of its purposes does not become known to all its readers for so long that, on the strength of what it was, it is able for a time to mislead those who trusted it. That this may be true, in some cases, of the "switch" of the Milwaukee Free Press, is the only excuse for devoting space to disseminating the fact that it is now the personal organ of "Uncle Ike" Stephenson, who begged a short term in the senate, got it on a promise not to seek another term, stood with the Aldrich crowd in defiance of the fact that his Wisconsin constituents are mostly hostile to that stand, and now breaks his promise and again becomes a candidate, using his newspaper to that end. If there are any who do not recognize the fact that the Free Press, long abused by the Stalwarts as the La Follette organ, is now the open-faced instrument of a reactionary who is inimical to La Follette and whom La Follette and all who follow him are opposing, the preachments of that much abused journal of sorrow for the election of the Marquette man may take root in soil that would not be fertile were the facts universally known. Affecting this matter we urge the careful reading of the following editorial from the Milwaukee Journal. You can't help seeing it, it is so plain:

"In Wisconsin two congressional battles that are of nation-wide importance are being fought. They go to the very bottom of the question of representative government or government by money, of whether the people or the special interests shall control national legislation. They involve the question of inaugurating reform peaceably and without delay or of continuing present abuses to the point of forcing reform by violence. The choice is between the progressive policy that is real conservatism which serving as a cloak for many sins, leads to destruction.
"The scene of one of these battles is the Eleventh congressional district. Striving for the republican nomination is Irvine L. Lenroot, who from the very first has been one of the most active and steadfast of supporters of La Follette and the reform movement of which La Follette is one of the representatives. Len-root has been one of the most courageous champions of the Wisconsin idea. He is a man of independent mind and action. Two years ago he went into the Third congressional district and boldly advocated the defeat of Joseph Weeks Babcock, republican, whose service in congress has been far from creditable to Wisconsin. Judging from his record, Lenroot, if elected to congress, would fight to the last against Cannon and all the evils of government that Cannonism embodies.

"Lenroot's opponent is John J.
Jenkins, one of the instruments of the standpat, reactionary clique that controls the lower house of congress
—the clique headed by Cannon, Payne and Dailez. He may be dependent upon to fetch and carry for the ring, to help continue the Cannon despotism by which the west is robbed of representation in congress, and monopoly lays tribute upon the people of the country.

"The other battle is being fought in the Fifth district, which consists of part of Milwaukee county and all of Waukesha county. Stafford, the sitting member, who is seeking re-nomination at the hands of the republicans, is another of Cannon's chore boys. He is a man of even less ability than Jenkins, and in the hands of the master ringsters he is servile and pliable. Stafford is one of the men whom Cannon used to stave off any reduction in the price of print paper and wood pulp and thus prevented the cause of tariff reform from getting a start that would threaten other special interests. Stafford faithfully carried out his orders.
He is just that kind of man. To appreciate how complete is the control of the bosses over Stafford, it is only necessary to recall the fact that President Roosevelt in his special message earnestly recommended the reform of the tariff on paper, but Stafford, at the bidding of the interests, defeated the president, notwithstanding practically all the republicans of his district are Roosevelt republicans."

"The candidate against Stafford in the primaries is Henry F. Cochems, who has ever been bold and energetic in advocating the Wisconsin Idea.
He has always stood squarely for it.
It was he who, at the Chicago convention, in a speech that attracted favorable attention throughout the country, placed La Follette in nomination for the presidency. That speech drew praise even from haters of La Follette. It was something so far beyond the power of Stafford to achieve that to think of Stafford's making the effort causes one to laugh. Cochems may have some of the faults not uncommon in young men, but in point of ability and in point of principle, we know of no reason why any right-thinking citizen should not support him as against Stafford.

"AND YET WITH LENROOT AND COCHEMS RUNNING FOR CON-GRESS AND UPHOLDING THE PRINCIPLES OF LA FOLLETTE, THE MILWAUKEE FREE PRESS, FOUNDED AS A LA FOLLETTE PA-PER, HAS NOT LIFTED ITS VOICE. HAS NOT SOUNDED THE FAINTEST NOTE IN FAVOR OF EITHER OF THEM. IN THIS ALONE IT HAS DEMONSTRATED ITS DESERTION OF THE CAUSE OF REFORM. IT HAS CONDEMNED ITSELF AS NOBODY ELSE COULD CONDEMN IT. IT HAS FOR ALL TIME DAMNED ITSELF AND ITS PRETENSIONS. IN THE GARR OF REFORM IT HAS WON THE SUPPORT OF SINCERE BELIEV-ERS IN REFORM. THESE HAVE MADE IT. BUT THOSE WHO MAKE CAN UNMAKE."

LET'S WIN THE PENNANT.

Did you ever stop to think that La Crosse has a chance to win the pennant?
Did it ever occur to you that the Pinks are making a heroic struggle?
Is it not inspiring proof of the determination with which the boys are entering the last quarter of the race that, with a crippled team, they have won seven straight games? Was not the smashing collision of Harms and Bond proof of the vim and daring with which they are contesting every foot of the ground?

The leaders are but eight games to the good. If they lose four and we win four, we will tie them. In other words, if La Crosse can beat Wausau four straight games the Pinks will be abreast the leaders, and one game the better of the percentage outside the series would give us the pennant.

It is not a cinch, but it is anybody's fight. For the first time in the season our pitching staff is in trim. It has been in fine form for two weeks. The men are at their best. The boys are hitting the ball, and fielding clean. There is not a stale man in the bunch, and happily either Jones or Eberle is qualified to go in at Bond's sack until he recovers.

If the grandstand will do as well as the team is doing, we will give Wausau a run for its money. Wausau has a fine "bunch" of players.
They are striving hard for the pennant. They have not yet had their "streak of bad luck" which every team is due to have once in a season.
Should it come now, it would put La Crosse at once "in the clear."

Let's all get together and help the Pinks lead the pennant. It is worth while, and with our moral support, good attendance and timely rooting the flag can be ours.

Yates, nominated Sunday by the Inter-Ocean, is obliged to yield to Deneen in deference to the official count. But he gave Illinois' reform governor a harder tussle than was anticipated.

There are no more enthusiastic supporters of Stephenson in the state than are the public utility organs in La Crosse.—Milwaukee Journal.

Now who do you suppose that means?

Things look mighty fine for Mr.
Hutton hereabout. La Crosse always likes men who do things.

It do look as how Uncle Ike had been liberal hereabout.

HOCK DER KAISER

(Philadelphia North American.)
Of course, the Kaiser, true to the traditions of the Hohenzollern line, is essentially a soldier, and as a soldier gives military affairs precedence in his program of reforms. But he is none the less active in other directions in which the expansion of his country's trade, the development of her resources or the maintenance of her industrial prestige are concerned. He is a patron of the arts and sciences, a good friend of literature, when untainted by socialism, and generally contrives to keep abreast of every movement that represents the march of progress to the goal of perfect human endeavor.
His domestic life is happy and his morals unassailable. He is a devoted husband, a good father and an excellent friend, and, taken all in all, is a ruler of whom any country should feel proud.

CLEVELAND'S MISPELLERS.

(Boston Transcript.)
It may be ungracious to mention it, just as the Clevelanders are rejoicing over the success of their spelling bee, but their city misspells its own name. Its founder was Moses Cleveland, and the settlers christened the town for him. Their first newspaper—the Cleveland free just what—ordered fancy type from the East to set up its title.
When they arrived they were found to be too large. Unwilling to wait for smaller ones, the editor got out of the fix by omitting the "a" in "Cleveland." Thus the types were made to fit the space. Since then the city has never recovered its "a."

NOT THE ENGLISH KIND.

(Detroit News-Tribune.) England sees neither fun nor sorrow in our drama. The island cannot possibly double up in mirth when one stage character tells another that he spent a month in Philadelphia last week. Our jokes are for home consumption. So is our pathos. Just the same as our national game, our style of rooting, and the way we pronounce "ham."

CAN PAINT TOWN RED.

(Brooklyn Standard Union.) Things were sure to happen after the Turkish women discarded veils.
Already the sultan has released himself from a thirty-one year self-imposed bondage, and will now appear on the streets like a private citizen.
Next he will be buying an automobile or an airship.

WEDDINGS ON INSTALLMENT PLAN.

(Washington Herald.)
A Missouri judge married a couple recently for $1 down and $1 a week for the next four weeks. That ought to be prohibited by law; no judge has the right to interfere with the happiness of a honeymoon in any such manner.

WATTERSON NOT INCONSISTENT.

(Brooklyn Standard Union.)
There is nothing particularly inconsistent in Henry Watterson's statement that "no man can be a prohibitionist and remain a democrat," when it is recalled that this comes from a state where no man can be a soldier and remain a private.

Hardly a Compliment

In Dr. Edward Everett Hale's younger days he was about to leave a parish, and a good old lady was bawling the fact and insisting that the church would be ruined thereby.
Dr. Hale, flattered by her words and manner, and wishing to console her said:

"But, sister, the man who will succeed me is a fine preacher and a splendid fellow. You'll soon see that everything is all right and get used to it."
"No, no, I won't," she answered tearfully. "I don't get used to this changing. I've seen six changes in preachers now, and it's got worse and worse all the time."—Judge.

Both Eager

"At last," he sighed, "we're alone. I've been hoping for this chance."
"So have I," said she, very frankly.
"Ah! you have guessed, then, that I wanted to tell you I love you?"
"Yes; and I want to say 'No' and get it over with."—London Opinion.

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Story of Immeasurable Power.By
S. R. CROCKETT.
(Copyrighted.)

"And pray, sir, of your courtesy, tell me what do you judge to be right. To enable you to rise in your self-esteem, must I consent to marry a man who has never asked me—why, you are worse than Mr. Kahn.
He, at least, brought his intentions up to the front door, and said his say out like a man!"

"He loves you, Vida?"

"Who—Mr. Kahn?"

"You know very well—Vic Morris!" said Phil sternly, feeling his courage gather as the path began to tangle itself between clumps of bram-bles already in flower, and red and white raspberries still in fruit. "Mr.
Morris loves you, but he is too honorable to say so. He will not even come in the evenings."

"Talk with Dick about 'dips' and 'strikes' and 'exits.'"

"Not at all," cried Phil, feeling somewhat ridiculously happy and impotently angry with Vida, "he has not said a word of you—I tell you he is too noble."

"Hum," said Vida, apparently deeply disappointed, "then this is not a profession of love after all, as I had been led to believe. Yet something in your manner—"

"Oh, Vida, he loves you! He does love you!"

"What a fool I am! Oh, what an ironclad fool!"

Vida put her hand in her pocket, and drew out her little handkerchief.
Then, selecting the very centre, she held it daintily up to her eyes, and pretended to cry into it.

"A foul attempt has been made on the affections of a poor unprotected maiden!" she sobbed. "I was led to believe—yes, your words said as much!—And now—"

"Vida, I could shake you!"

"Yes, yes—do—do! Add violence to the deceit you have so cunningly practised upon a trusting heart! How you can ever look me in the face! But I am not so feeble, so submissive, as I may appear. I will have my revenge! A proposal of marriage has been made—by master or man—it matters not which, at least, not legally—either by Mr. Ludovick Morris, or by his trusty henchman, Phil Calmont, on his own behalf! I call upon the firm to stand by their words—to make them good! Somebody loves me. Somebody wants to marry me. I bid you tell me which?"

And suddenly, dropping all pretence with her kerchief, she turned upon Phil two eyes, with something in them far more real than mere teasing could have brought there, and red lips, moist with fast-coming breath, a little apart like the hands she had spread in asking the last question.

At the sight Phil completely lost his head, and catching her almost roughly in his arms he cried out, careless of who might hear him: "I shouldn't—oh, I shouldn't! Vic Morris is a thousand times a better man than I am. But Vida—Vida—it is I who have loved you longest and best!"

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Shadow Cast Before.

These summer days were, quite apart from everything else (his love for Vida included), days of great anxiety for Vic Morris. It was a summer such as had not often been seen in Kirktown. Day after day, instead of the usual April weather varie-gated by thunderstorms which usually passes for summer in Scotland, the Kirktonians had basked in the glow of an almost tropical sun. The wagons of Incubus, Romer & Co. clucked dumbly by the roadways, along which they had formerly clattered, up to the inner side of the fellows in dust.

The children, at home from school, ran barefooted and barelegged all the summer, till the extraction of thorns and pieces of glass became an ordinary (and unremunerative) part of the duties of Mr. William Stewart, A. P. S. of the local Apothecary's Hall.

In the pits down below, of course, nothing changed. Twice a day, at noon and eve, tired men rose to the surface, and with white faces "passed the word" as to the condition of the air and other matters below, to the comrades who were there waiting for the cage to descend.

Vic had been able to move for a general inquiry, through a labour member whom he had known on the same bench as himself at the City of London Technical School.

But, with the best will in the world, from a government point of view, it was a difficult matter to appoint such a commission directly. To do so would be to ensure their own officials. Nevertheless, filtering through some channel, there came a suggestion to these gentlemen that they had better arrange for a day or two to make a surprise visit to the Incubus Coal and Iron Works.

Whereupon, filtering through nests yet more mysterious, the suggestion also reached Mr. Walter Grin-dling and his faithful coworker, Mr.
Hector McKill. They held council together on what was to be done, Mr.
Grindling taking high ground.

"Now, see here," he said, emphasizing his points with one clenched fist driven noisily into the hollowed palm of the other, "see here, McKill, this is not a matter for the Oddfellows' Hall, nor yet for the . . . One thousand, three Hundred, and Five and Thirty. This is serious. I have got to see it through. There is no use troubling the Chief—nor yet Mr.
Kahn—you understand. The Chief is too much of a swell, to authoritative, also with such men. And, as a foreigner, Kahn is handicapped. He does not know how to treat government officials. Now, I do. They are to stop with me, mind, and in some way or other I am to be indemnified for my trouble and X's—now mind

"You know that I cannot conscientiously approve of such proceedings!" said Hector McKill.

"And you are not asked to!" said Grindling. "All you have to do is to keep your mouth shut, and stick your initials in the corner of a sheet or two. You know I have the welfare of the concern too much at heart to spend a penny needlessly. I have never done it in my life! You go elsewhere and farther with your "conscientious" approval."

"I know, Grindling—I know!" said Hector McKill, touched almost to tears to think that he had wronged his friend. For, strangely enough these gentry had among themselves a species of honour, which was not without a certain contorted nobility.
They were working not for themselves, but for the firm—cheating, lying, deceiving, risking the lives of hundred of men, putting up prices, and cutting down wages, all for the honour, glory, and profit of Incubus, Romer & Co., the firm which they had served all their lives.

But all that year there was in the under world of the workings great doubt and uncertainty. This came to a head after the fire, and the dismissal of Vic Morris. Vague impressions and vain hopes were aroused by the whispered name of that distant entity called Parliament. Something was wrong down below. Everybody knew that. Yet they did Vic Morris' will, as it as expressed privately through this foreman, and that inspector of ays. They knew it was the dismissed engineer's will—that they were doing. But they would have died rather than own it.

Yes, there was something wrong with the pits—not with one, but with all. Some said that old workings, dating a hundred years back, stood full of water, ready to be tapped, and that some day the chance stroke of a pick would flood the whole series from end to end, leaving not a living soul within.

Others, who had worked in distant English mines where the dread fire-damp follows the fire-blast along devasted passages, declared that they had seen the little detached bluish flame, which tells of a mine becoming fiery, hovering above their lanterns. Others had tales of ponies, never more. And there were tallyboys and gate-boys who would not have taken a nap on the sly for a hundred pounds—so much they feared the invisible gas, heavy as water, the drinking of which was death.

Still, at six of the morning in every second house, down all the endless blocks of the Incubus Pit Row—numbered from A to Q—hundreds of men and boys stolidly got themselves ready for their day's work. In the strait little flagged kitchens they breakfast, a father with his boys, or brother with brother—those who did not know them would have said a little doggedly—some what sullenly.
At least, little was said. Silence is particularly a morning virtue among Scottish workingfolk. And this not the less, that, at Kirktown, many were waifs and strays from half the workings of the three kingdoms—these being especially plentiful in Pit No. 3—the sinking of which was not yet completed. These "sinkers" had the name of a wild lot, even for

NO BATHS ON THE NORTH SIDE NOW

CITY WILL NOT REOPEN THE RESORT THIS YEAR

PERMANENT BATHS NEXT YEAR

Board of Public Works Announces it is Too Late for Permanent Bath and Temporary One is "Off"

The Bath on the north side is lost for at least the present season. This is the announcement of the board of public works this morning. The board has decided that it would be advisable to construct the bath house at this late time as the baths that are used at the bath house would have to be taken away before the first of September as they will then be used during the primary season.

It is considered too late in the season to build a permanent bath house and furthermore no suitable location can be found at present. The location of the baths last year is in such condition that it would be impossible to build a suitable and safe bath.

The high water that has been prevalent during the season has damaged the shores to such an extent that it would take some time to rebuild the place for a bath and as it was not until last week that the water was low enough to allow the building of the baths.

Next year however, unless the water again interferes permanent baths will be built, to give the north side residents the same privileges that the south side people now enjoy.

EXHAUSTION Made Worse By Coffee Drinking.

There's a delusion about coffee which many persons, not necessarily chemists only, are fast finding out. That exhaustion from long hours of hard mental or physical work is increased by the reaction of coffee, rather than relieved, is a well known fact. A prominent music professor found the true state of the coffee evil, and also the remedy. His wife tells his experience:

"For over thirty years my husband taught music 6 days a week and 12 to 14 hours a day. None too robust, such constant work made a drain on his strength so that he was often quite exhausted by Saturday night. "He formed the habit of drinking strong coffee regularly with his meals. Occasionally when he did not have his coffee he would suffer from headache, nervousness and weakness. This alarmed him and we also, for we feared he was becoming a slave to coffee. "About that time we heard of Postum and decided to try it. At first we did not like it, but soon learned it should be boiled 15 minutes after boiling commences, and then when served hot with cream and a little sugar, it was a drink fit for kings. "My husband found he was gaining in weight while using Postum. He was rid of constipation, his head disappeared and his nerves became strong. "Now at 61 he is still able to work teaching selling instruments or conducting the farm, and can outwork many younger men. "He has never gone back to coffee and says he never will. Recommending Postum to others is one of his hobbies. We are happy to say all our children drink Postum and are good of it."

Read the above letter? A new era is dawning from time to time. The true, true, and full of human interest.

LEAGUE MEETING TO TALK BOAT CO.

POPE CONCERN WILL BE CONSIDERED WEDNESDAY

ATTENDANCE WILL BE SMALL

Grocers' Picnic Will Draw Away Many of the Members, but Business Will be Taken Up

The North Side Progressive league holds its meeting Wednesday evening.

The attendance is not expected to be as large as usual as the grocers' picnic is to be held the same day.

The regular business will be brought up for discussion, but the most important question will undoubtedly be the advisability of bringing the Pope Motor Boat factory here. The Pope company has long wanted a location on the Mississippi river, where they would have better facilities for boat building and La Crosse is about the only town of any size that has not a boat factory of importance and naturally it offers the best field.

The north side will have a chance to get this industry and if the proposition is a good one there is no reason why the factory cannot be landed. The only objection that the boat company has to the old Vote-Berger factory is that it is too small according to a representative who has been looking over the proposition. This shows that the factory is a concern of no mean proportions and it can be easily seen that this industry would be an excellent acquisition to the north side.

DR. FORCE RELEASED FROM STATE'S PRISON

STILLWATER, Minn., Aug. 10.—Dr. Jacob L. Force of Minneapolis left the state's prison Saturday afternoon in company with his brother, who came to escort him home. The doctor looks hale and hearty for a man of his years. He has not grown his "burnside" whiskers. Asked as to his future plans, he said: "I am going to work for my brother," and added in response to a question as to his state of health, "I am strong and physically able to work."

Further than that he said he has no plans for the future and had nothing to say. He had not been able to become familiar with things in the country in general and has nothing to say now about matters relating to his imprisonment. He looks better than when he was received at the prison a year ago last March.

"Q" CLUB MEMBERS PLEASED WITH MEET

FEWER MARKSMEN TURN OUT TO SUNDAY SHOOT

STILL TIRED FROM TOURNEY

In View of Success of Open Tournament it May Be Made an Annual Event on the North Side

The members of the "Q" Gun club did not turn out as well Sunday as is the case usually. The reason probably is that the members are rather exhausted from the big shoot held last Thursday. The members are all satisfied with the results of the tournament and the universal opinion of the experts who were here that the meet was the best that has been held in Wisconsin this year and one of the best that they attended this year, is gratifying to the members of the club who did all that was in their power to make the meet a success. Undoubtedly the brilliant success of the tournament this year will encourage the members to hold a similar one next year.

The scores of the shoot yesterday are as follows:

Broke. Shot at
Patterson	64 75
Winter	44 50
Bovee	38 50
O. Fladlin	42 50

SETTLEMENT "KIDS" GET AN OUTING

Through the efforts of Miss Katherine Gedney about 20 children of the Graham Taylor settlement of Chicago will be brought to Onalaska and placed in homes in that vicinity. The children are transported by the railroad company free of charge and are taken into the country for a two weeks' outing. There are a large number of children who are taken from Chicago and given a couple of weeks' of out-of-door life every year. This is the first time any of the children have been brought to La Crosse and it was through the efforts of Miss Gedney who is employed at the Graham Taylor settlement, that they were brought here.

LIFE THREATENED, LITTLE GIRL SAYS

MADISON CITY, Ia., Aug. 10.—Threatened with death if she told of her father's alleged misdeeds, or if she permitted any one to enter their home, is one of several charges made by the daughter of M. E. Coons, a farmer living two miles from Panorama. The father has been arrested.

The little girl alleges that the father shot the neighbors' cattle and horses, afterward carefully concealing the wounds by inserting wooden plugs and brushing the hair of the animal over the holes in the flesh.

The death of many head of stock in that vicinity had been a complete mystery until this solution was presented. Apparently healthy at night and in the pasture, in the morning some of them would be dead, and there was no evidence of how they came to their death. Talk of engaging detectives was indulged in, but they could not reason out why that would be of any avail. Only in one or two instances were bullet holes found in the animals that were dead, and this finally was explained on the grounds that it was the work of careless hunters.

PETTIT GETS FINAL TOURNEY PRIZE

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 10.—The last prize in connection with the recent state golf tournament, held in Kenosha, was awarded Saturday when the trophy for the selected score was awarded to State Champion Fred R. Pettit of the Kenosha club. In deciding the race for the trophy the committee audited more than 500 cards. Pettit's score was 68.

R. P. Canavagh of Kenosha was second with a selected score of 69. Frank W. Jacobs of Madison, the former state champion, had a card of 70. Chester D. Barnes of Kenosha 71 and A. M. Tourtellotte of La Crosse 72.

SEEKS TO ENJOIN CHURCH.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 10.—Papers were served late Saturday afternoon by the sheriff's office with Mrs. O. Bunnell and daughter of Crookston complaining witnesses, on Dr. Dennison, secretary of the Episcopal church vestry, of this city, and on C. C. Bowen, a local contractor, restraining those parties from trespassing on certain land between the Episcopal church and the residence of Mrs. Bunnell and daughter. The service comes as a result of a long fight over the title to the land now the subject of this order of the court, and which is valuable to both parties on account of its central location in the city. Some years ago the land was turned over to the church for purposes and periods now in issue, and of late the church, through its secretary, has been cutting down trees on the strip, with the idea of improvement. The adjoining resident objects to this operation and has recourse to law.

Try Our Rival's, Too

We invite you to buy any rival beans and serve them with ours. It is easy to say "Our beans are as good as Van Camp's." But compare them and see. Serve both brands together and hear what your people say.

A great many people claim to sell beans that are just as good as ours. We invite you to prove their claims.

It is a very easy matter to serve both brands together, then take a vote of your table. Let the majority rule.

Do the same with your home-baked beans—serve them with Van Camp's. Ask your folks which they want next.

We fear no competition. We have not built up the largest trade in the world without a reason for it.

One great difference usually lies in the original beans. Some beans cost but a fraction of what we pay.

We buy only the choicest of Michigan beans, and have them picked over by hand. We accept only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown. All inferior beans are discarded.

The makers who use what we discard of course save a great deal of money. That's why some beans are pushed.

Another great difference lies in the tomato sauce. We could buy sauce ready-made for exactly one-fifth what we spend to make ours.

But we use only whole, vine-ripened tomatoes—not tomatoes picked green; not scraps from a canning factory. The result is that superlative zest, that sparkling natural flavor.

It is easy to say "just as good." But the best way to settle the question forever is to try the others and see.

Compare Van Camp's with your home-baked beans in a similar way. And don't feel badly when your people decide that ours are infinitely better. Consider the work that you save.

People want their beans nutty, mealy and whole. They want the skins unbroken. They want the tomato sauce baked into the beans to give our delicious blend.

That's what they get in Van Camp's. The reason is, we bake in live steam. You bake in dry heat. Your beans are mushy, soggy and broken. Ours remain nutty, because they are whole.

Yours are crisped on the top and half-baked in the middle. Ours are thoroughly baked clear through.

Your beans are only partly digestible. They ferment and form gas. Ours are wholly digestible—they don't form gas.

That's because of our terrific heat. We separate the particles so the digestive juices can get to them.

So it isn't your fault—it's your lack of facilities—that makes our beans so much better than yours.

VanCamp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

It is pleasant to know, in hot weather, that a dozen meals lie ready-cooked on the pantry shelf. That's one delight in Van Camp's. Each can means one delicious meal, fresh and savory, ready when you want it.

To get the best beans, baked in the best possible way, is a very important matter.

Beans are Nature's choicest food. They are 23% nitrogenous, 84% nutritive. They offer a greater food value than meat, and at a fraction the cost.

Home-baked beans are not served very often, because they are heavy and hard to digest.

Van Camp's can be served every day. They are appetizing and hearty; all people like them. And see how much food you get for ten cents as compared with meat.

Suppose that beans not half so good do cost a trifle less. Your people will eat less of them. And no food that compares in nutrition is nearly so cheap as beans.

Van Camp's Beans, if you figure rightly, are cheaper than home-baked beans; cheaper than the cheapest brands. For you can serve Van Camp's five times where you serve the others once.

Please try them and see—compare them and know. Learn what you are missing when you don't serve the best. Do this today—you can't afford to wait.

Harvest Season for the "Bad Man" With the Jimmy and Nitro Bottle Opens With Fine Field

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Aug. 10.—It has become known to the police that several expert cracksmen have arrived in the state, preparatory to carrying on a systematic campaign against the smaller banks, postoffices and business houses of the smaller towns, and unless precautions are taken at once such robberies will be more frequent throughout the state this fall than during former years.

South Dakota in the past, during the fall months, has been a favorite field of operations for the yeggmens, and the great crop raised in the state this season, and the abundance of money in banks and other institutions of the various towns, will this fall be an extra incentive to the cracksmen to operate in South Dakota.

LAW TO HARNESS TEACHERS TO TASK

EDUCATOR SAYS PEDAGOGUES ARE "HALF-BAKED"

PREVENTS TEACHING AS PLAY

Prof. Schubert of Local High School Recently Admitted to the Bar Is an Example

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 10.—Prof. N. A. Thorson of Crookston, for several years assistant in the Crookston high school, believes that the teaching profession is one of the most abused as it is one of the most important in the country on account of the transitory numbers that hastily, as it were, traverse its field. The Crookston schools have been the fair example of what passes in all the other schools of the northwest, and a group of north country educators, assembled here, agreed that more devotion to the profession of teaching is needed in the development of the youth of the northwest.

"The majority of teachers teach as a means to an end," said the Crookston professor, now in charge of the Crookston summer schools, "and having completed a period of employment reaching over three or four years at the most, disappear. The benefits of the experience disappear with them. We have then as a result a thousand half-baked school teachers to one teacher that, with years of experience is really qualified to command the attention of old and earnest and developed pupils in our school."

"The commercial pursuits do not interfere to any appreciable extent with the continuity of a school's teaching staff, but many a good teacher makes a poor lawyer out of himself or develops into other professions with little real chance of betterment."

"The sufferer, of course, in the last analysis, is the youth of the northwest, who by reaching the level of their transitory teacher in one direction, lose interest with the disappearance of experience in their instruction. I believe the school conditions of the country would be greatly benefited by the enactment of laws that would prevent persons designing on other business from using the staffs of our public schools as stepping stones to that business and generally proving detrimental to the youth of the country."

CRUSHED UNDEAD TENDER.

MANKATO, Minn., Aug. 10.—Simon Beedle, a prominent farmer living near Truman, was fatally injured while moving a threshing machine, and was brought to a hospital in this city, where he died shortly afterward. He was backing the threshing engine out of a shed, where it had been housed, when the platform broke throwing Mr. Beedle between the drive wheel and the tender. He was terribly crushed and lacerated. His 10-year-old son who was on the tender, saved him from instant death by running to the engine and shutting off the steam. Mr. Beedle was 37 years old. A widow and six children survive.

HUNDREDS OF FISH CAUGHT ON SUNDAY

Sunday was probably one of the most successful days for anglers of the present season. Returning fishermen had large strings of croppies, bass and other varieties, in many instances there being more than a hundred fish on one string.

This season is declared to be the best for fishing in a long term of years, few people going to the haunts of the finny tribe without returning with a fair catch.

Judging from this condition, it would seem that the seiners' harvest of rough fish during the winter is not detrimental to the game fish, as was supposed.

"Every man is the architect of his own fortune," quoted the wise guy.
"Yes, but he wants to keep solid with the building inspector," added the simple mug.

THINKS PEOPLE MAY CARRY ARMS

Editor of The Tribune:

I read in a late issue of your paper a somewhat lengthy article in favor of a law similar to one said to be in force in Chicago regarding the sale or having in possession of firearms.
This Tribune seemed in favor of requiring a purchaser of such weapons to first get a license or permit from the authorities, and give a bond, which permit and bond, together with a description of the buyer and of the weapon, should be duly recorded, etc., with a penalty for non-compliance. This law intended to protect people in general from injury by the criminal, careless or ignorant handling of firearms. Now I appreciate the motive in favoring such a law, and would favor any law that would tend to increase the safety of innocent and peaceable people and restrain the criminal class. But I submit, for consideration, the second article of amendment to the constitution of the United States, where it expressly says:

"A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

By this it seems to be that a person in Chicago may carry a gun and, so long as he makes no dangerous use of the weapon may not, constitutionally, be molested nor called to account for owning or carrying the weapon, license or no license, but he would be fully as accountable to Judge Lynch in the mining regions of Idaho or Arizona for a criminal use of the gun as he would be to the police force in Chicago, or La Crosse or Trempealeau.

Should a man be punished for violating Chicago's ordinance (by being the owner and possessor of a firearm of any kind and not licensed) he could carry his case from one court of appeal to another and, if his money and influence lasted, to reach the United States court, it looks to 'dis-'Nigger Amos' that "article two of amendments to the constitution" would protect him in his ownership of any variety of gun, whether baby's pop-gun or a gatling battery.

What do our bretherens of the legal persuasion think of this? Let us hear.

Very truly yours,
CURIOSTONO.

REIMAN & THORDT HAVE "GLASSY" STORE

Upper Main street in the business section seems brighter since the advent there of about the prettiest and neatest store the street possesses.
The modiste's art certainly has its reward in the grace and beauty of women's gowns, and nowhere is this better exemplified than in this gem of a store that Reiman & Thordt have opened at 535 Main street.

Passers on the street are invariably attracted by the new show window in their building, so arranged as to display the tasty ready-to-wear garments at the best advantage, and if the observer is lured into the place by the seductive beauty of the display, she finds within that the entire interior has been remodeled with equally appropriate methods for the showing and preservation of the best things that adorn a woman's wardrobe. To add to her delight, she finds that these splendid garments are quoted at moderate prices, placing them within reach of the modest purse.

Reiman & Thordt propose to handle an exclusive and choice line of personally selected women's ready-to-wear gowns and furs. Both have had long experience in the business, and in this store they expect to add to the advantages of their patrons by giving the sales department their joint undivided attention. They will be there all the time, personally serving the trade.

Already women are recognizing the fact that whatever this store displays is "classy," and that quality and caste and individuality charac-terize its entire stock.

MR. EDWARD CRONON STATES HIS CASE

After having lived in La Crosse for nearly fifty-four years, this is the first time that I have appealed to the voters to support me for an office.
It is true, I was elected to the office of county coroner, but I did not seek or ask for the office, having been elected by the people in this way. I accepted, and qualified. My predecessor in office had had trouble, and lots of it, while he held the office, and I soon found out that there was enough left over for me to keep me from getting lonesome.

published in the newspapers telling of this, soon after I came into office, and which many will recall. In order that there might be no doubt as to the position I held in the matter, I asked for, and received, the written opinion of the district attorney, Otto Bosshard, who stated that I had requested the salary of $50.00.
Some of them were as indignant as I was myself, when I told them that this was not true. I knew nothing of the salary deal until the next day.
Now is this fair treatment?

If the salary had been made in the spirit of fairness, I would not be a candidate for the office of county clerk today. I feel as though I have not been treated fairly, and this is why I am asking the people of La Crosse county, to support me with their votes.

I have lived here nearly fifty-four years, and this is the first time in my life that I have made an appeal to the people for their votes for myself.
I have always been helping the other fellows, but that salary, and the way it was fixed, I consider slur on the county, and an insult to a one-armed soldier.

I have not been an office seeker either here, or in the army, as I was offered promotion while in the army, and refused it. I traveled over 1, 000 miles from the south, where I would otherwise have received. The

The committee on fixing salaries, did not consult me in the matter. Another thing in connection with this subject: Some one, whether the district attorney, or committee, started the story among the supervisors, that I had requested the salary of $50.00.
Some of them were as indignant as I was myself, when I told them that this was not true. I knew nothing of the salary deal until the next day.
Now is this fair treatment?

If the salary had been made in the spirit of fairness, I would not be a candidate for the office of county clerk today. I feel as though I have not been treated fairly, and this is why I am asking the people of La Crosse county, to support me with their votes.

soldier.

I have not been an office seeker
either here, or in the army, as I was offered promotion while in the army,
and refused it. I traveled over 1, 000 miles from the south, where I was at the beginning of the war, come back to La Crosse, to enlist I went in to fight with a musket with a sword, a private in the ranks, to march through the m-with the boys, and take my chan-on the firing line, at the front.

The district attorney and court clerk are candidates for a four term, which means eight years in office. I am not in favor of this, it is too long a term to keep a man in office, for many reasons, as I think the majority of the voters the county share in the same op-ion, and if they do, the question be settled at the primaries, on T-day, September 1st, 1908.

Now I have stated my reasons for becoming a candidate for office, it is for the voters to say whether or not I have been treated fairly while holding the office of county coroner.

Knowing how I have been used, I have been advised by friends of mine, both republicans and democrats, to become a candidate against one who is seeking a fourth term, and I have concluded to do so, win or lose, and think I will win.

Since the above was written,
have learned that the district attorney has concluded not to be a candidate for re-election.

GEORGE HARMS IS NOT A BALL TOSSER

BROTHER OF INJURED PLAYER IS A BUSINESS MAN

LA CROSSE CLOSE TO WAUSAU

If La Crosse Wins Today and Madison Loses Hawley's Bunch Will Be Second

George Harms, brother of Jerry Harms, who arrived Saturday, is not the baseball player. He is only another brother of Jerry's and his knowledge of the game does not warrant him a position on the La Crosse team, which is making a strong fight for the lead just at present. When Harms arrived in the city and the management heard of it they were of the opinion that he was the second brother of baseball renown, but it has later been found that instead he is head bookkeeper at the Burroughs Adding Machine company of Detroit and was on his vacation, when his brother was hurt. The management is now up in the air to find a second baseman to fill Bond's position as the present outlook is extremely dark for Bond appearing in the game for some time. Several fast infielders have been written to and the management hope to secure the service of a good man within a few days. Until then Eberly and Jones will cover the second sack.

Watson, Jones and Flynn have been booked to do the twirling for the double header with the Indians today. Bubser and Burwell have been slated to do the twirling for the Oshkosh bunch.

If Madison loses today and La Crosse breaks even it means second place and if we take a double header with the Indians and Madison wins it also means the second place, and Wausau is still closer.

The attendance yesterday was 665. Saturday 259 and Friday 281. There remains about 7,000 before La Crosse can have baseball next season and the only way that this can be accomplished is for every fan to get out and boost and attend every game. The team is playing in great form at present and the pennant is within easy distance. It would be terrible for La Crosse to win the pennant this year and then not be able to defend the honor through lack of attendance.

Following the series with Oshkosh Manager Lynch brings his cubs for three games, and then Green Bay arrives. Next Saturday a double header will be played with Green Bay.

Jerry Harms was at the game yesterday rooting for La Crosse. He is anxious to get into the game again and although the doctor does not favor the plan, Jerry says he will be able to get behind the bat for the Green Bay series.

WENDLING MAY BE "FLY COP"

Joe Wendling, of the local police force, who has been working on the day force since the Saengerfest week, has been transferred to the night crew again. Wendling was taken from the night force before the circus and has been doing detective work since, together with Joe McGraw, but owing to the quietness in the work following the Saengerfest, he was again transferred to the night work. Wendling made a good mate for McGraw during his work days, and the two made several arrests of suspicious characters.

Wendling will probably be returned to the detective service later as more plain clothes men are needed in the service, and his services with McGraw were considered extraordinary.

TOUCH OF ROMANCE IN LIFE OF AUGUST CROAGGIO

HE SAW HIS AFFINITY PASS

And Knew She Was His "Fate;" Courtied and Won Her and Now They Will be Wedded

Loosing his wife in a fire in Milwaukee, coming to La Crosse to work on the new normal school and meeting a young German widow, wooing her and getting her promise of marriage all in a few short weeks, is the story of August Croaggio, an Italian.

Croaggio came to La Crosse recently and worked about the school building. He had recently lost his wife and his thoughts naturally drifted to the question of who would fill the place made vacant by her death. One day while working with a number of his countrymen he chanced to see Mrs. Bertha Gusta Louisa Southerland pass the place where he was at work and he knew at once that he had met his affinity. How he knew it he cannot tell but he worked harder than usual and the work didn't seem half as hard. He soon was made a section foreman and with this title the rest was easy.

He finally contrived a way to get an introduction and his attempt was successful. In a short time he had courted her, asked her to marry him and today he got the license to wed her.

"And some day zay will fly to ze granda Italia," where Croaggio was born.

YANKEE FLEET IN NEW ZEALAND NOW

ARRIVAL THERE OCCASION FOR A BIG DEMONSTRATION

NEWSPAPERS ARE FRIENDLY

Editorials Express Pleasure Over Fact that United States is Interested in Pacific

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 10.—Cloudy weather greeted the landing yesterday of Admiral Sperry, commander in chief of the United States Atlantic fleet, and his officers to receive the official welcome to Australian waters at the hands of Prime Minister Sir Joseph George Ward on behalf of the government. Grouped about the prime minister were the members of the cabinet and representatives of the various town, borough and county districts of the dominion. Unbounded enthusiasm prevailed.

The fleet having been formally welcomed to everything in Auckland, the island of New Zealand and the adjacent waters and the sky above, the officers and the first batch sailors, who are to receive their shore leave, today set about to enjoy the week's program of entertainment in this strange land.

The New Zealand papers continue to comment in a most friendly tone on the visit of the fleet. The Auckland Herald's comment, which is significant, says: "The visit of the fleet emphasizes the fact that the United States is not going to take a secondary position in the Pacific and even if her mother country has chosen to abandon that ocean, the daughter will not follow in her footsteps. The United States Gibraltar is at Honolulu and the splendid harbors at Pago Pago and in the Philippines. If the mother country has parted with her heritage in the eastern Pacific why should one daughter be jealous of another keeping what was a part of the family patrimony."

The dominant note sounded throughout all the welcoming exercises—the Pacific must continue to be controlled by English speaking people. There was no specific declaration of this of course, but through the speeches of Premier Ward, Governor Plunkett, Mayor Meyer and the reply of Admiral Sperry, this thought was clearly evident.

MOTHER REMOVED TO POOR HOUSE

The poor commissioners have removed Mrs. Babel La Sarge, 1102 outh Seventh to the poor farm. They found the woman and her family in destitute circumstances, the mother being sick and the children in want. The father has disappeared. The six-week-old child died Saturday night after action had been taken by the commissioners, and the other two children will probably be taken to the Sparta Home for Dependent Children. The woman is improved in health since being taken to the poor farm.

GIRLS FOUND GOLD PIECE

And Father of One of Them Accused Higgins of "Copping" the Children's Change

Accused of taking a twenty dollar gold piece from four little girls who claimed they found it while at play, G. H. Higgins, a resident of the North side, was this morning found not guilty.

Pearl Bigsbee, Maud Solem and two of the Higgins' children were playing along one of the roads north of the North side when one of the little girls picked up a badly battered and discolored twenty dollar gold piece. Childlike they decided to divide it among themselves. They tried unsuccessfully at several of the North side business houses to get the money changed, but finally succeeded in getting bills for it at the North Side bank. They then proceeded to buy some articles which appealed to them, such as shoes, umbrellas, etc., and armed with these started home. On the way they encountered the elder Mr. Higgins, who demanded to know where "his twenty dollar gold piece was." They protested and told him they found it, and what they had done with it, but upon threats of sending them to the reform school if they didn't "come across" with the change he got what they had left. Not satisfied with this he proceeded to take the articles they had purchased in view of getting the whole amount.

The father of one of the little girls became suspicious of the matter after hearing the story of his little daughter and as a result took out a warrant against Higgins. Higgins' story as well as that of his daughters was to the effect that he had found the money on the State road coulee and had taken it home. He claimed that one of his small girls found the money and having a propensity for picking up any "small change" that was around took it out and divided it among the children. After reviewing the case and taking into consideration the conflicting stories told by the various witnesses the judge finally decided to dismiss the defendant.

"NUMBER, PLEASE" CROWD ON PICNIC

The employees of the Wisconsin Telephone company held their annual picnic at Oehler's mill yesterday. There were about 30 people present. In the afternoon a baseball game was played between the ladies and men. The umpire, Manager Young, decided the score was 7 to 7 in favor of 7 in order that no one would be offended. His decisions as an umpire were so rank that he was mobbed and hung from a tree in effigy. After a new umpire was put on the grounds the game progressed nicely, although the spectators became aroused at different intervals during the game. The intense excitement that prevailed was a sufficient excuse for any hasty actions and everything was settled peaceably.

The crowd all voted that the event was a success and the only reason that there wasn't as much joy in evidence on the way home as there was on the way out was that some of the members were not used to the strenuous and were all in. Everyone had recovered this morning, however, and the system was running as smoothly as ever despite the fact that there were "things doing" yesterday.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS TODAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 10.—With a record entry list of fifty-five contestants in singles and twenty-five teams in doubles, the annual Wisconsin tennis championship tournament will start at 10 o'clock this morning and continue through the week on the courts of the Town club, Farwell avenue.

In the invitations issued for the events it is stated that players must report at 2 o'clock the afternoon of the opening day, or they may be defaulted, but because of the big entry list play will start earlier to keep the tournament from being overcrowded. The courts of the Milwaukee Lawn Tennis club will be used during the first part of the affair. The Slazenger tennis ball will be used. Rules of the United States National Lawn Tennis association will govern.

NEENAH LAUNCH WINS AT OSHKOSH

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 10.—The Pioneer, owned by W. H. and S. H. Krueger of Neenah, won the 100-mile race of cabin launches for the Fahrney cup valued at $500. There were five boats entered. The start was made at 7:30 a. m. and the boats finished after 7 p. m. The Pioneer had a handicap allowance of over two hours. The class "C" boats did not finish for lack of wind.

A CRAZY EXPEDITION.

VALLEJO, Cal., Aug. 10.—What promises to be one of the most exciting transcontinental journeys ever undertaken was begun here, when Walter S. Hoen, navy surgeon, started for Washington in charge of 24 maniacs. Many were violent and it is feared that Hoen will have all the excitement he cares for. The men are being transferred from the Mare Island navy yards to the national insane asylum at Washington.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

The skin is an index to the quality of the blood. Eczema, Acne, Tetter, pimples, rashes, eruptions, etc., show that some unhealthy humor or acid impurity is diseasing and corrupting the circulation, so that instead of supplying nourishment and strength to the fine, delicate tissues of the skin, it is continually pouring out its acid and unhealthy accumulations. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., may relieve some of the itching and other discomfort caused by skin troubles, and for this reason should be used, but such treatment cannot reach the humor-laden blood, and therefore cannot cure. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., a purely vegetable preparation, is the best and quickest remedy. It goes down into the circulation and neutralizes and removes the acids, impurities and humors, thoroughly purifies the circulation and permanently cures skin diseases of every kind. When S. S. S. has driven the humors and impurities from the blood, and cooled and cleansed the acid-heated circulation, every symptom passes away, the skin is again nourished with rich, healthful blood and the trouble cured, as the cause has been removed. MARINETTE, Wis., Aug. 10.—A complaint was filed with the Marinette county clerk of court, charging William H. Falvey, assemblyman from the Second district and candidate for re-nomination, with having taken illegally $7,700 from the highway funds of the county. The alleged offense is said to have been committed when Mr. Falvey was a supervisor of the county and chairman of the highway committee. Friends of Mr. Falvey claim that the charge was made with intent to injure him at the primaries. The charge was made by Theodore Kersten of Crivitas as a taxpayer.

Not in Camp Perry Team.

A sudden change took place in the personnel of the Camp Perry team. It was a change which simply shows the character of the man affected. Trooper F. Nagler of Troop A, Milwaukee, who won the officers' medal for first place in the state, will not compete in the Ohio match. He has not served long enough in the guard to permit him to do so.

The Milwaukee trooper took the initiative in relieving himself from the coveted match. He has belonged to the guard only since last June and naturally was ignorant of the rules governing the big competition to be held the latter part of the month. In conversation with Holdridge, another team member, the trooper mentioned the fact that he was a recruit and had served but a few months. Holdridge informed him he was not eligible and the trooper at once reported the matter to the camp officials and in place of practicing with the team, which he would have otherwise headed, he went onto the other range to compete for an expert army course medal.

La Crosse Man Coach.

The team members spent the time trying their rifles. The first shooting was on range 3 at the skirish targets, the competitors firing several shots without advancing, while markers showed the hits. Later firing was taken up on the advance. The team members will return here next Friday and devote three days to practice before leaving for the match. Lieut. Fowler, who was sixteenth high in the week's shooting, waived his right to team membership and will devote all time to coaching the men.

$50,000 LOSS IN FIRE IN VIROQUA TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

VIROQUA, Wis., Aug. 10.—The large tobacco packing house of O. H. Helgeson was destroyed by fire, together with nearly 800 cases of 1906 tobacco, one of the finest packings of goods in the state for that year's crop. The loss on tobacco is about $50,000, carrying insurance of two-thirds to three-fourths value of the packing. A number of other large houses and packings of tobacco were threatened, but the flames were confined to the Helgeson property. An adjacent dwelling house belonging to Mr. Helgeson burned.

RICH MAN BUYS HIS WAY TO POORHOUSE

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 10.—Fearing that he might become a public charge when his money was exhausted, Dominick Bach turned over his bank account to the poor department and asked that he be sent to the poorhouse. He is now 78 years of age and as he had $400 to his credit he figured that that would be enough to sustain him the rest of his natural life. After some consideration his offer was accepted by the county officials.

Twenty years ago Bach came to this country from Germany planning to have his family follow him as soon as he had been comfortably established. He came to Ashland, where he worked a number of years in one of the sawmills and when he had saved some money to bring his family over his wife had died and the children, who in the meantime had been taken care of by relatives, refused to leave their old home. Grieved, the aged man bought a small farm near Sanborn which he cultivated industrially. Finding old age coming on rapidly he sold property and removed to Ashland several years ago, where he supported himself as best he could and drew on his bank account as needed. But his pile grew smaller and smaller, until he began to fear whether with rent, fuel, food and clothing, it would last to the end of his days.

MAN NEARLY KILLED BY FAST TRAIN

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 10.—At the Sixteenth street crossing of the North-Western road, the 8 o'clock south bound passenger train struck a horse and carriage, containing J. C. Jorgenson, his wife and two children, throwing the vehicle and occupants twenty feet and wrecking the rig and breaking the legs of the horse.

Mr. Jorgenson was cut and bruised and injured internally, but Mrs. Jorgenson and children escaped without a scratch.

QUARREL ENDS WITH A BROKEN SKULL

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Aug. 10.—As a result of a quarrel at the Leathem & Smith quarry, one man is dead and another is being hunted under suspicion that he is the murderer. The name of the dead man is not known; the alleged murderer is Mike Haseck. Both are Macedonians who came to the quarry about a year ago from Chicago. Last night, it is said, the two had hard words and in the course of the quarrel the man was struck by his assailant. This morning he was found dead in his room with his skull crushed. No trace of Haseck has been found by the police, who have wired his description to other cities with instructions to apprehend him.

aged 81 years. He has been a resident of Kenosha for the last twenty-six years. He was for years an exhibitor at the Chicago, Milwaukee and New York horse shows, and won many ribbons. He was noted as a wealthy man and is survived by a widow and one daughter.

DOG EXPIRES AFTER HAVING OPERATION

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Aug. 10.—The black setter dog belonging to District Attorney B. A. Hustung was operated upon by Veterinarian J. W. Hooley for cancer and died while under the effect of the anesthetic. The cancer was successfully removed, but the animal's vitality was so exhausted that it did not recover from the shock. The cancerous growth weighed eleven ounces.

RESORT HOTEL IS RAIDED BY SHERIFF

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Aug. 10.—Sheriff Henry Kiefer in a raid on a summer resort hotel at Elkhart lake took several gambling slot machines. The sheriff disguised attended a mask ball and came into the village on foot. This is the second time he has attempted to raid the place, the first time the manager having got wind of his coming and hid the machines.

The slot machines were taken to the Elkhart jail and there they were smashed with an axe. One of the slot machines was a new one, having been installed for the first time yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CHILDREN DROWN IN CISTERN

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 10.—Fred, 4-year-old son of Michael Little, while playing around a cistern, accidentally fell in, and was drowned in two feet of water.

FAST GROWING CONCERN

Hynne and Benrud Granite Company Forced to Enlarge Capacity Owing to Phenomenal Increase of Business

One firm in this city, namely, Hynne-Benrud Granite Co., are rapidly forging ahead with great strides and have not made much of a holler about it neither, but owing to close attention to the business from an organization only three years ago, they have grown to such proportions that they found it necessary to increase their quarters and have just entered into a long term lease for the Neprud building just across the street from their present building on Third and King streets and will hereafter occupy both buildings for their business, the manufacture of granite and marble monumental work. Their present building will be turned into the manufacturing department and the one just leased in to an office and salesroom. Just three years ago this month this concern was incorporated and took over the business of two other concerns and in these three years have had a phenomenal success. Mr. Hynne, the president, made the statement at the time this firm was organized that he would like to see at least 25 skilled mechanics employed at his works. Already 12 are employed and if he receives the support hereafter that he has received in the past three years, he has all hopes of realizing his ambitions. Their success is due to the reputation for the best class of work and material furnished and courteous and dependable way of doing business.

They expect to have the largest stock of finished work on display second to none in the northwest. Mr. Hynne has been in this business here for the last 15 years and was formerly at the head of the marble works on Jay street, and Mr. Benrud has also been connected with a similar concern before identifying himself with the present company. Both are practical men at the marble and granite carving trade since they were boys, besides having a business education both from school and experience.

They expect to have their stock all nicely arranged by Monday, August 10, and they extend an invitation to call and look over their grand display of monuments and see the manufacturing of them by modern machinery.
